

Snappy kids

IN A colourful array of shapes and sizes, the children from St Kilda Park Primary's after-school program have found a bright way to express themselves, with startling results.

"Close Up On St Kilda Park" is the culmination of a year's work by 38 children aged 7 to 10 from the school's special activities program.

The program began when local photographer Nicola Loder, 29, approached the After School Program hoping to teach children to "see through the camera".

The photographic exhibition opened last week with more than half of the works selling on the night and will run until March 6 at St Kilda's Linden Gallery in Acland Street.

THE only thing "black and white" about these children are their photographs captured as part of the St Kilda Park Primary's after-school program. 940216501
